One of our industry's primary mineral core manufacturers instituted a 300% immediate price increase of its 90-minute cores this week. An escalation this extreme will impact the total cost of these fire-rated doors significantly. As many of you already know, we are currently working closely with our manufacturing partners and other vendors to understand the total effect on our products, line by line and item by item. We are hoping to find a quick, efficient, and cost-effective solution, but in the meantime we hope you are understanding and patient with this situation that affects us all. We will issue a notice of resolution as soon as possible. Please contact your Manhattan Door sales representative for more information.
